Just CA and BC are invited...and provided with an all expense paid trip. Must be a hidden agenda. Or an obvious UN agenda..21. 15 minute cities, you will own nothing and be happy. Of course the county person will be attending. May I suggest a public forum on information learned and especially when the county would love to implement this agenda.

Interesting that this program "Joint Public Delegation – California & British Columbia – Sustainable Urban Development." is held in Denmark by the Danish Foreign Ministry - not the climate-change people the program alludes to. Moreover, the documentation cites no reason that this conference on climate change as it affects building practises, digital services, and community planning should be held in Denmark rather than in California or British Columbia.

In fact, such things as new building materials like mass timber and climate risks like wildfires and floods sound like they would best be seen and discussed locally.

The one good thing is that Denmark would be paying all travel costs. But otherwise, it sounds a bit like an Agenda 21 indoctrination campaign.
