The current House federal reconciliation budget being proposal would result in nearly 1 million San Diegans losing their Medicaid health coverage. The County would lose millions of dollars in federal funding for critical safety net programs that San Diegans depend on to survive. County residents have a right to know their benefits are at risk, and the County has an obligation to stand up and oppose cuts that will be harmful to San Diegans.

It is very likely people already know. Although there is no fiscal impact, this could take manpower hours away from more important tasks.

The problem with this is that the recommendation is to Report back with notification strategy options within 30 days. The way this government operates is to make cuts first and adjust later, like all the people they fired without notice and had to ask to come back. By 30 days, the recipients may well have been cut off already.

To better make this effective, I suggest that the funding-at-risk notices go to recipients whose email addresses you know ASAP and by regular mail to the others.

On the other hand, I am thinking that the funding cuts have been made clear through the media to most people.

Another good thing would be to amp down the fear factor by suggesting alternatives in the email or letter.
