I'm writing to express my strong support for emergency housing initiatives that serve our region's homeless veteran population. As home to one of the largest concentrations of veterans in the nation, San Diego has both a duty and an opportunity to lead in ensuring those who served our country are not left behind.

Expanding access to safe, stable housing for homeless veterans is not only the right thing to do—it's essential to the health and strength of our broader community. Thank you for your continued efforts to prioritize those who have sacrificed so much.

No to more tax waste. I am a veteran; every enlisted military was forced a pay deduction tax for the decades of Veterans Homes Government Program - THE BILLIONS TAXED TO EVERY MILITARY ENLISTED EVERY PAYCHECK FOR ENTIRE 20 YEAR CAREER WHERE DID THA MONEY GO?

This a good idea. Veterans have served their country honorably, and deserve better than to be homeless because their military-related benefits expire.

I also think that just because the program happens to be for Veterans, there might not be ideas generated which might help with other housing initiatives – perhaps a better way to cure the mentally ill or drug dependent among the regular homeless population.
