I serve as the District Manager of Mission Resource Conservation District in Fallbrook. The storm drain that crosses our property is corroded & DPW refuses to take responsibility for repairs as there is no easement. The County should have provided an easement & disclosure with the property sale. The storm drain serves downtown Fallbrook, is corroded along its length & presents a structural & safety issue. We respectfully request the County take responsibility & schedule repairs asap.
Thank you

The federal appeals court blocked the release of jail records in San Diego. The records could shed light on deaths and injuries in the jails, but the court ruled they could identify confidential informants. The public has a right to know about the conditions in the jails, and the decision is a setback for transparency. The public should continue to demand accountability from law enforcement.

I'm very concerned that you support the delay of the federal judge's order to publicly disclose internal Sheriff's Department documents. With the sheriff continuing to resist efforts to increase transparency, we need your board to push back on her stalling tactics and avoid a one-year delay to this process. The concern for undermining conversations between officials and their lawyers is a delaying tactic that I hope attorneys will be able to rebut, perhaps through appropriate redactions.
