I read that Bill Morgan got an award in 2016 for building a 500 foot bridge over the San Luis Rey River on Valley Center Road on unstable ground with an extra lane and sidewalks. I am guessing he has some really good engineering experience.

And having already been the Assistant Director of Public Works for several years, he should be great to train the new assistant director.

Since his duties would seem to be the same plus ensuring a smooth transition, I do not see why his hourly pay gets substantially decreased.

Let's hire him back - but no pay decrease.
