Sounds like now the Board realizes that it passed a bunch of half-baked ideas which were, as I suggested, too dependent on broke or busted Governments for funding without much financial planning. So now it needs to scramble.

Not sure if sustainable is used as the code word or the real thing.

Especially the homeless need a good deal. They have waited and waited, most, patiently, suffering diseases, horrible subhuman conditions, and harassment, moved from place to place, regardless of their prior service.
