I'm glad that the first guideline reads "involuntary detention under the LPS Act constitutes a significant deprivation of civil liberties that is supported under limited circumstances described in law and regulation. Involuntary detention and treatment are deemed necessary when required to protect the safety of certain individuals and the community in circumstances permitted by law." It is important for many people in government (no names mentioned) to realize that they can't put someone away just because they don't like the message.

In section IV (Periodic Review,) I like the idea of unannounced reviews giving no time to hide stuff that might not be proper.

In section V (Revoke Facility Approval,) Item 9 is arbitrary and not at all defined ("When, in the judgment of the Director of BHS, withdrawal of designation is required by community needs") and should be removed from the guidelines.

Mostly looks good, and I'm glad this comprehensive document was drawn up.
