Jewish Family Service of San Diego strongly supports the establishment of BHIF 2.0 and thanks Chair Fletcher for bringing this item forward to the Board. The original Behavioral Health Impact Fund supported needed behavioral health services and was deployed effectively. A renewal of the program would benefit the entire continuum of care and help to fund innovative services for those in our County who rely on behavioral health support. We urge approval. Thank you.

The Grossmont Healthcare District supports Chair Fletcher’s recommendation to establish the BHIF 2.0. The County’s east region is disproportionately impacted by behavioral health workforce shortages, a lack of intermediate and post-acute beds, and inadequate supportive housing. We respectfully request this action to provide our region’s behavioral health providers and community-based organizations with a flexible funding source to address these needs. Thank you for your leadership on this issue.

Behavioral Health Services are desperately needed in San Diego County. Waitlists for qualified providers exceed 4 months (16 weeks) or longer. Emergency care centers for behavioral health are overwhelmed. For those who work in addiction/substance use disorder fields, we are seeing co-occurring disorders mounting and are unable to find treatment services to support the clients with their mental health needs in recovery. This funding is needed in every way possible to hire and train providers.

Our county-funded program serves Deaf/Hard of Hearing adults with outpatient treatment for drug and alcohol abuse. We are one of the only programs in the U.S. to do so. Equitable and affordable sober living environments that fit the needs of the Deaf community are simply unavailable and the recidivism rate is creating a significant impact on our program. Establishing the BHIF 2.0 and funding grants that are accessible to small programs like Signs of Life will make an impact that saves lives.

I am in support of this item. I believe turning this over the supervision of the fund to the CAO will ensure there is appropriate and nimble oversight.
