Looks good. But since we are facing an invasion of WAYMO driverless taxis. The Sec. 201.9(g) definition of 'driver' needs to be explicit that the operator could be 'in-person, a computer program, or remote' Some provisions seem to be applicable to driverless vehicles, and there should be explicit references to licensing and using driverless for-hire vehicles, such as WAYMO taxis which are known to impede traffic. See section 21.904(j)

So let's change with the times and make this better.
