Since 2018, San Diego County has lost 47 inpatient psychiatric beds.

Rather than demand more from Gov Newsom, Supervisor Desmond should demand more from his BHS bureaucracy.

Over the past 6 years, why hasn't the County prioritized replacing these lost inpatient psychiatric beds?

San Diego County Behavioral Health Services has a $1.125 billion dollar annual budget and refuses to reallocate 4.5% ($51 million dollars) of that to serve people who need help the most.

We have known about SB43 since October 2023. What do we have to show for it?

Clearly, CSUs and SD Relay are not the answer. People must discharge from Crisis Stabilization Units in less than 24 hours. SD Relay assists people who are willing and able to engage.

Both ignore the gravely disabled population.

As this Agenda item states, "Housing First" has failed - homelessness along with associated costs have only increased, and this along with the increase in human suffering. It's time for another approach.

San Diego County Psychiatric Hospital has an additional 41 licensed, unused beds. BHS Director Bergmann has failed to prioritize appropriate staffing for this facility. While San Diego County begs Newsom for more money, BHS Director Bergmann fails to utilize his existing resources.

The facility categories (residential SUD treatment facility, chemical dependency recovery hospital) listed are eligible for Proposition 1 funding. What is San Diego County doing? Embarrassing.
