The San Diego LGBT Community Center supports the decision to continue to fund the Housing Our Youth (HOY) program. Addressing the needs of young people currently unsheltered, or those who are vulnerable of homelessness, is an upstream prevention well aligned with the County's strategy. The human-centered, evidence-based approaches in HOY helps youth homelessness get to a functional zero. We would appreciate seeing a percentage of funding similar to past HHAP rounds for this program. Thank you!

As CEO of Home Start, and a partner with Housing Our Youth, I fully support the continued and expanded funding for this critical program serving the youth of our County. Our unsheltered youth are most vulnerable and deserving of these comprehensive services. Together we are addressing the needs of our youth with early intervention and a range of evidence-based and proven housing solutions for our youth.

As a leader at the YMCA of San Diego County and an advocate for effective and cost-effective strategies to solving housing instability and homelessness among youth in this county, I support the continuation and expansion of the Housing Our Youth program. The strategy of supporting youth along this continuum is evidence-informed, and we have made strides collectively in reducing housing instability in two short years with this investment. Investing in youth now will reduce future homelessness.

As CEO of San Diego Youth Services, I support the decision to continue to fund the Housing Our Youth program. Addressing the needs of youth currently unsheltered, or those who are at-risk of homelessness is aligned with the County's strategy. Through HOY we have been able to expand services for some of the most vulnerable youth in San Diego, especially youth of color and LGBTQ+ youth. We would appreciate seeing a percentage of funding similar to past HHAP rounds for this program.

The HOY program has been so beneficial to so many youth as we not only get them off the streets into safe and supportive housing but provide services designed to keep them off the streets and meet their needs for a sustainable future. I 100% support the HOY program and how we can tackle overall homelessness in San Diego by focusing on our youth in most need!

The Hospital Association of San Diego & Imperial Counties strongly supports efforts to increase housing and services for people experiencing homelessness. The pandemic increased housing instability for vulnerable youth across San Diego County, the coming year is a critical opportunity to intervene and disrupt the cycle of homelessness. We support the renewal of the HOY contract and believe that additional funding is necessary to meet the serious and growing needs of at-risk youth.

The Housing Our Youth partner cohort works as a cohesive team of youth service providers, in partnership to continuously address our system challenges, leverage our areas of expertise for every youth, and implement evidence-based practices to move the needle – all in partnership with young people. This program has surpassed all expected outcomes. We support the renewal of the HOY contract and encourage increased HHAP 3 funding to scale this program to meet the growing unique needs of youth.

I support the decision to continue to fund the Housing Our Youth program. Addressing the needs of young people currently unsheltered, or those who are vulnerable of homelessness, is an upstream prevention well aligned with the County's strategy. It is notable that in first 11 months, HOY started, they had engaged to 601 youth to provide critical support and other resources within 48 hours of initial contact. We would appreciate seeing a percentage of funding similar to past HHAP rounds for HOY.

I support this measure to continue to fund the Housing Our Youth program. This program supports the needs of young people experiencing homelessness with a trauma-informed lens and human-centered approach. Housing Our Youth has successfully transitioned 91 young people into permanent housing within a year. I urge the Board of Supervisors to approve this measure and support the program's goal to reach a functional zero in youth homelessness.
