Are all of the residents forced to live in Borrego Springs? Or did they choose to live in this area? The item states: "The community is relatively isolated, with residents having to drive long distances for groceries, medical care, and other goods and services." This is an individual choice and decision to reside here. A fire station of course. Once again, the government wanting to control health services is the opposite of healthy. The health clinic is up to the residents.

Borrego Springs and the surrounding areas certainly needs a new fire station to go with the new high fire zone. And a new health clinic would be a great addition. But no to other health-related uses. This sounds like a scam. Borrego Springs does not need an abortion clinic or a fancy relaxation clinic.
