An abortion is never anyone's first choice, and those who seek it deserve to do so without having to satisfy a random gawker's perverse desire to punish or investigate them. Every bit of red tape, hurdle, and technicality that is arbitrarily wedged into this process only bars San Diegans from accessing medical care to appease onlookers who will never be satisfied with ANY path to abortion. This need exists regardless of our comfort level, and the least we can do is allow help.

I believe you, the supervisors for San Diego County, are intelligent enough to be able to detect misinformation. Women should have the power to make healthy family decisions about their bodies, themselves, without interference. Bodily autonomy is a basic right. Please continue to provide access to medication -based abortion treatment, that has been safe and effective for 24 years.

Amanda Matheson at April 08, 2024 at 9:25pm PDT

Support

I support the stockpiling of medication based abortion treatment. While stockpiling such lifesaving and important medication is a short term measure in case of a ban, it allows women and the county to arrange other means to access the medication in the long term. Stockpiling Mifeprestone ensures immediate access to the medication, while not stockpiling leaves women vulnerable to punitive policies. Please ensure continued access to medication-based abortion treatment.

Politicians and judges are taking away the rights of women and girls - human rights - of obtaining life saving health care. If you can't control what happens to your body, your other choices of work, school, - how your life will unfold - are diminished or abolished. Girls and women need to have the ability to control their bodies, their lives. Yes to Item #21 Stockpiling medication-based abortion treatment should be done, and a resolution to abandon the Comstock Law would also be in order.
