I am submitting this comment in support of a countywide By Name List for people experiencing homelessness. put simply, By Name Lists work. These lists have proven to be effective as evidenced by the recent decline in veteran and youth homelessness in San Diego County. The ability to track individuals experiencing homelessness increases the likelihood that we can apply a person-centered approach to addressing barriers to accessing permanent housing. Just using our tax dollars to abuse the disadvantaged. Homeless people don't have a lot of choices and will be forced to give up their rights to privacy just to get a meal or a change of clothes and your so called programs are a facade to further your surveillance state. I oppose the use of our tax dollars for another program that doesn't help anyone who really needs help.

Another waste of tax dollars. Many homeless are transitory. Most choose to be homeless. STOP the insanity of doing the same thing and add more expensive insanity to the mix. Insanity: doing the same things over and over expecting a different outcome. It is only getting worse under your governance!

So it's not just having homeless persons' names on a list, but also recognizing them by sight? This can easily be expanded to include arrest record searches, searches for sources of income and public benefits, and background checks. This might help the first-time homeless, about 10% of the homeless population, who don't know where to turn for help. But for the other 90%, who know how to work your system, they're not going to give you their real name. WASTE OF TAXPAYER RESOURCES!!

As CEO of San Diego Youth Services, we have worked closely with RTFH, the CoC and the County of San Diego to end youth homelessness. We have seen the positive impact of the utilization of the By Name List with youth has made. This has been an effective tool in getting youth off the streets and into shelter and permanent housing. I strongly support the recommendation for the CAO to explore the feasibility of expanding this effort County-wide.

The implementation of county by-name list for people experiencing homelessness will add the dignity and humanity of us knowing the names of each of these precious people, and help non-profit service providers maximize the support being provided to them.

Good luck getting people to comply with this. A list of people that are homeless, what's the point? Seems like more government big brother-ing here. There is no need to have a list of people homeless status. It's not anyone's business other than the homeless individual.
