Not needed. Not now. Not a priority of the electorate.

The Chinese Historical Museum Site does not need development. It is always nice to get a small bit of money, but development of a historical site such as this makes a mockery of equity.

And to be honest, with the Midway development contract mod canceling 400 units in the original just a few weeks in, and the Ash Street scandals, among others, I do not think that you should give San Diego a blank check to develop the property.
