So, you propose to increase fees, presumably so you can continue your wasteful spending habits. Excessive contingency fees. Equity giveaways.

Same script, but an average 5% increase. A bit less onerous, still inflationary. And this time, it looks like you're targeting food and housing for non-profits – which means low-income people will be squeezed once more. Just how stupid do you think we are?

The first thing is to share the pain and cut your salaries a bit. And maybe reduce the number of managers at the County a bit, you know, the ones who drove us down a rathole and a deficit hole.

An independent audit first to verify that all the County's BS programs are not wasteful would be great. Put your money where your mouths are.
