Although political affiliations are known, the county board of supervisors should conduct themselves in a non-partisan manner. Their job should be to represent the people of their districts and make choices that are best for everyone. It comes down to what is important and everyone deserves equal representation. Stop attacking Monica Montgomery Steppe and Tara Lawson Remer. They care about people, unlike the hate spreading elites that take advantage of those they see as inferior.

Supervisor Terra Lawson-Remer should be voted out due to her ambitious spending plans and support for “super sanctuary” laws, which prioritize non-residents and strain local resources. Her spending proposals include a $1 billion annual sales tax hike to fund healthcare, public safety, and housing, a real estate transfer tax on high-value properties, and freeing $100 million from county reserves to address a $138.5 million budget shortfall and federal cuts. These plans are fiscally irresponsible, lacking specificity, and exacerbating the affordability crisis.

Her support for the Immigrant Legal Defense Program (providing legal aid to illegal immigrants facing deportation - some with criminal convictions), misallocates funds ($5 million or so) while neglecting more important local issues. We deserve someone better.

Terra and Monica voted for Super Sanctuary County to prioritize convicted violent criminal illegal foreigners above the safety of American citizens and legal residents in this county, including the marginalized communities they purport to champion. They want men pretending-to-be-women invading girls/womens sports + private spaces. They won't answer to the sudden disappearing of 3,200 unaccompanied minors from the SD convention center. No election until d1 super is elected.

The Board letter itself says "The Chair's primary role is to preside at all meetings of the Board and ensure that business is conducted in an orderly fashion." 4 months in and there is as much cussing and rowdy conduct as I've ever seen. People getting personally insulted because of their political views, people being allowed to transgress rules randomly, and this includes the Vice Chair regularly violating the Brown Act.

I applaud the Vice Chair for opening up the dialog and liberalizing the speaking rules a bit, though. We need a real Chair..

And frankly, you should have listened to our suggestions on how to improve the speaking process when Nora first brought it up – my suggestion of us self-regulating our speeches, and suggestions to limit the presentations or your own speaking time.

WELL, HERE'S ANOTHER – GET A TOTALLY NEUTRAL BEHAVIORAL ARBITER IN HERE, preferably one who knows the law.

How long will this clown show of two competing orchestras continue?
