Oppose. Continuing to throw money at the problem only serves only as a feel good measure by the tax paying populace. The vast majority of the homeless have a mental or substance abuse problem that the homeless themselves need to declare a problem they want to resolve before there will be any long-term change to the homeless problem. Our great weather, non enforcement of laws against the homeless, and the high benefit rate of SSI in California only supports there nomadic and tax-free lifestyle.

We are attracting more homeless by giving handouts. We need better solutions for mental health and drug addictions before we give free handouts.

I oppose the county of San Diego of spending any more funds on the homeless until you actually have solutions that work. The homeless problem is worse than it has ever been. What you are currently doing is not working. You are actually attracting homeless populations with all the free handouts. Stop clogging our under passes and downtown areas with homeless camps

I am the conservator of my brother who is severely mentally ill and an addict. I have chased him through the revolving door of our system over the last 20 years. He was in a long-term lockdown treatment facility to be released to a housing that was not competent and able to care for him properly. There is a desperate need for board and care facilities that specialize in dual diagnosis for mental illness and addiction. My brother currently is wandering homeless in Oceanside despite my efforts
